Third hottest April in Pune in last decade

On 14 days this month, maximum temperature crossed 40° Celsius

PARTHA SARATHI BISWAS
PUNE, APRIL 30

THE MONTH of April saw the highest number of days when temperatures breached the 40 degrees Celsius mark in Pune. The average temperature in April was 39.4 degrees Celsius, making it the third hottest April in the last 10 years.

By all accounts the city has seen hotter Aprils in the last 10 years but the present April was marked by the presence of residual heat as well as heatwaves in nearby places. During the last month, Pune saw 14 days when the maximum temperature crossed 40 degrees.

Pune experienced a total of five days when the temperature had crossed 40 degrees last year. In the last 10 years, 2019 had reported the second highest number of days when the maximum temperature had crossed the 40 degrees mark (12 days). However, average temperature wise 2024 was the hottest with the average maximum temperature being 39.6 closely followed by 2019 when the average maximum temperature was 39.5 degrees. The average temperature of April this year was 39.4 degrees. (Source: IMD)

S D Sanap, a scientist from IMD, said the temperature trends show that present month is well within range. "IMD had earlier talked about hotter than usual April and the temperature trends are well within range," he said. Also temperature felt is higher due to the presence of moisture in the area.

IMD during the start of the month, had in its forecast talked about a higher number of heat waves and hotter than usual April for the country.

K M Hosalikar, former head of IMD's climate research center welcomed the talk about heat in the society. "This is a welcome move which would see people taking steps to prevent over exposure as well as prevent further heating," he said.

Hosalikar said while the city's temperature is well within range, heat waves in areas like Jalgaon, Nandurbar and other areas can add to the heat felt effect. "Over the last few days, parts of Maharashtra have been experiencing heat waves. Parts of Vidarbha have reported over 40 degrees on multiple occasions," he said. Calling for more observations, Hosalikar said this would help determine urban heat islands and other phenomena in the cities. "More observations would help the authorities take preventive measures and help the society better," he said.

The year 2024, as per World Meteorological Organisation (WMO), was the hottest year and Pune was no exception. IMD in its April forecast had talked about higher than normal maximum temperature for April as well as more days of heat wave.

AJIT PAWAR TO INAUGURATE

One side of Sinhagad Road flyover to be opened for public today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
PUNE, APRIL 30

The flyover construction was delayed after plans were revised to include provisions for Metro station pillars along the proposed Khadakwasla-Hadapsar route via Swargate

DEPUTY CHIEF Minister Ajit Pawar will inaugurate one side of the Sinhagad road flyover — from Vithalwadi to Funtime theatre — on Thursday, a move which is aimed at easing traffic flow on the route and comes as a big relief for residents.

The Pune Municipal Corporation has completed work of its 2.2 km long lane of one side while the work of opposite side lane of 1.54 km long from Indian Hume Pipe to Inamdar chowk will be completed in June.

"PMC completed phase one of the project which is 520 metre long flyover on Sinhagad road at Rajaram bridge chowk in August last year. The focus had then shifted to complete the largest part of the flyover in phase two that will allow commuters to avoid five traffic signals on the congested road. The second phase included a 2.12-km flyover on one side from Vithalwadi to Fun Time theatre and a 1.54-km flyover from Indian Hume Pipe to Inamdar chowk. The project was implemented at cost of Rs 118.37 crore and additional Rs 27 crore for metro pillars," a statement by the PMC on Wednesday read.

"One side of the flyover is opening on Friday to the public. The PMC will complete the work on the second side of the flyover in June after which it will be inaugurated," said Yuvraj Deshmukh, Chief Engineer of PMC.

The flyover work had got delayed after it was decided to make provision for constructing pillars for metro stations on the proposed metro route from Khadakwasla to Hadapsar via Swargate. The flyover project will help motorists avoid traffic signals at Vitthalwadi, Hingne Khurd, Anandnagar, Bramha hotel and Goel Ganga chowk while going from Vithalwadi to Funtime theatre on Sinhagad road.

The other lane of the flyover will help avoid traffic signals at Bramha hotel, Anandnagar and Hingne Khurd.

The objective of the flyover is to address the traffic chaos at Rajaram bridge junction and ease the traffic flow on Sinhagad road, making it easier for pedestrians to cross the road.

It will make travel to Swargate much easier and also help in fuel consumption for vehicles that otherwise get stuck in traffic jams.
