

Centre allows Wangchuk to share notes on his detention with wife

EXPRESSNEWSERVICE
NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 15

THE CENTRE on Wednesday told the Supreme Court that it had no objection to Ladakhi climate activist Sonam Wangchuk sharing his notes on his detention with the lawyer of his wife, Gitanjali Angmo, who approached the top court challenging his detention.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Centre, conveyed this to a bench of Justices Aravind Kumar and N V Anjaria, which then adjourned the hearing till October 29, giving time to Angmo to make some changes to her petition.

Wangchuk, lodged in Jodhpur Central Jail, was detained under National Security Act on September 26, two days after four protesters were killed in police firing at Leh. The Leh district magistrate who passed the detention order told the court Tuesday that Wangchuk “had been indulging in activities prejudicial to the Security of the State...”

On Wednesday, Senior Advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for Angmo, told the bench that “he (Wangchuk) has made certain notes on the detention which he wanted to pass to the lawyer for his wife. Whatever notes he prepares, he is entitled to the assistance of the lawyer.”

Mehta said that his apprehension was the alleged delay in providing grounds of arrest to Angmo should not become a fresh ground for challenge in her petition. “Delay in making a representation is a ground...I am not objecting to (Wangchuk sharing notes with wife). Only caveat is, delay of two days in making representation...” Mehta submitted.

Sibal, however, said that the petitioner will challenge the detention only on the grounds supplied by the detaining authorities.

The bench said, “Kapil Sibal would submit that the detainee has prepared certain notes and the same are required to be shared with the petitioner (wife). Tushar Mehta would submit that they would have no objection with the detainee sharing notes with his wife. We are not expressing any opinion in this regard and keeping open the contention in that regard.”
