Oppn wants govt to give date on setting up capital in Gairsain

•Leader of Opposition Indira Hridayesh after attending the concluding day of the winter session in Dehradun on Friday. VINAY SANTOSH KUMAR/HT to announce his decision.

State Congress president Pritam Singh accused the BJP and its government of not being on the same page on "such an emotive" issue. He demanded that the ruling dispensation take an immediate call on the permanent capital issue.

Meanwhile, BJP legislator Deshraj Karnwal rose from his seat and criticised the Opposition members for being anti-farmers. He accused them of disrupting the Question Hour when he was to raise questions relating to farmers' issues. Meanwhile, an altercation followed between Karnwal, a Dalit and Congress MLA Karan Mehra. Karnwal accused the Congress of failing to give due recognition to Dalit icon B R Ambedkar who gave India its constitution. Congress legislator Manoj Rawat strongly reacted asking Karnwal not to 'pretend to be the sole inheritor of Ambedkar's legacy'.

Amid the chaos, the Speaker once again renewed his request that the Opposition let the Question Hour continue but to no avail. The irate Congress MLAs started raising slogans 'Pahar Virodhi Ye Sarkar Nahin Chalegi, Nahin Chalegi' (Highlanders won't tolerate this (BJP) government that is inimical to their interests).

Meanwhile, Hridayesh took a dig at BJP president Ajay Bhatt saying he speaks with forked tongue on the Gairsain issue. "Sometimes he issues statements in favour of holding assembly sessions in the hill town and sometimes he is against it," she said. Hridayesh also hit out at Bhatt accusing him of issuing 'ambiguous' statements on the permanent capital issue. "Sometimes he (Bhatt) says a summer capital would be set up at Gairsain," she said adding if that is indeed the case, the government should explain where it intends to set up the state's permanent capital.

Reacting to the barb parliamentary affairs minister said if the opposition agreed, a session could also be held at Gairsain. At this Karnwal again stood up from his seat accusing the opposition Congress of trying to accentuate a hill-plain divide.

Analysts say that the BJP and the Congress that have been alternately ruling the state fear that setting up a permanent capital at Gairsain could evoke a sharp reaction from the plain districts.

Hridayesh said the BJP government's ambiguous take on Gairsain also 'badly reflects' on the Opposition. "People have started doubting our intentions as well," she said, adding the Congress wanted the government to clear its stand on Gairsain. "Once it (stand) is clear a debate can be held on that," Hridayesh said.

The Speaker, however, stated he would allow a debate on the issue only under rule 58 after the Question Hour. Under rule 58 no voting is carried out in the assembly on an issue following a discussion on it. The Opposition finally agreed.

r reprimands ministers, r 'lack of preparedness' questions when his turn came. "Have you asked your question through the shayari you are reciting?" he interrupted the member when he began by reciting Urdu couplets instead of asking his question the second time.

"Please ask your question instead of reciting a shayari," Agrawal said. Seeing the situation taking a serious turn, Karnawal immediately raised the issue of sugarcane growers not getting enough prices for their produce. Responding to it, parliamentary affairs minister Prakash Pant, who also heads the ministry of sugarcane development, said efforts were on to increase the minimum support price (MSP) for the crop. "A committee of officials, scientists and representatives of the farmers has been constituted, which would soon fix the revised MSP for sugarcane," Pant said.

Earlier, the speaker was so upset with animal husbandry minister Rekha Arya that he cancelled all questions posed to her by BJP legislator SS Jina and other ruling party legislators.

The legislator posed a number of questions on the steps being taken by the BJP government for the protection of stray cows.

"Such steps need to be taken urgently because the House recently passed a unanimous resolution to declare cow as 'Rashtra Mata (national mother)," he said. The resolution will be forwarded to the central government for its approval.

Arya gave answers but not to the legislator's and the speaker's satisfaction. Similarly, BJP MLA Munna Singh Chauhan too appeared to be dissatisfied with Arya's answer to his query about the enforcement measures being taken by the government to protect the stray cows in the state. Answering the query, she said the rules for protection of cows have been clearly stipulated in the Uttarakhand Protection of Cow Progeny Act. Both the Speaker and Chauhan appeared dissatisfied with the replies.

"The issue of cow protection is very serious and the entire House is concerned about it but the minister's replies are not satisfactory," said the speaker. "I am cancelling the question.

To this, an embarrassed Pant politely commented that the ministers were prepared. But his comment failed to cut ice with the speaker of the House.
